"These ain't the 'Melancholy Days,' no matter what they say; There's more good fun in all the ways than's been there many a day."

The idea of autumn as a sad season is largely derived from the writings of English poets. In America, after the universal summer flitting and return, with a revival of vigor and endeavor, it is usually looked upon as the beginning, not the end, of the year, and this present autumn, after all that has been passed through, promises in Wheeling at least, to be unusually gay and will be especially hailed with delight. All the many social clubs of 1893-94 are now in process of reorganization, and many new ones are to be added to the list. Weddings of many of the most popular favorites in the social realm, however, will furnish the key-note for most of the fashionable complimentary entertainments, while the Daughters of the Confederacy, to be given Christmas week, forecasts that all social doings will not have aimless pleasure alone for the motive. The coming week brilliantly ushers in the season, with the Storor-Moffat nuptials.

The summer Thursday Morning Whist Club has changed its hours to the evening after dinner. The ladies comprising this club are Mrs. Julius Pollock, Mrs. James B. Taney, Mrs. W. W. Arnett and Miss Julia Wilson. Meetings at the homes of members either Wednesdays or Saturdays.

Monday evening, from 7 to 11, at the country home of Mr. W. P. Hubbard, will be given the usual weekly musical evening, being this time changed from Tuesday because of the Storor-Moffat wedding.

This afternoon the Charity Whist club meets at the residence of Mrs. W. W. Arnett, ready for its winter campaign for the sake of charity. There will no doubt be a large attendance.

Monday evening Mrs. J. F. Merriman, Mrs. Margaret Dake, Mrs. Martha E. Whitaker and Miss Kate Hunter play duplicate whist at the home of the Misses Hunter, on Fourteenth street.

Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, will be solemnized the marriage of Dr. John Waddell Storor and Miss Mary Hudson Moffat, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Moffat, in the Second Presbyterian church, historic in the traditions of the family of the bride-elect. Over seven hundred invitations have been issued, the ushers of this concourse of friends to be Mr. Archie Moffat, brother of the bride; Mr. Charles W. Paxton, Mr. W. P. Harper, Mr. Frank Berry, Mr. Berry, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Tom Sweeney. Mr. Arthur G. Hubbard will accompany Dr. Storor to the altar and the attendants to Miss Moffat are her sister, Miss Blanche Moffat, as maid of honor, and Miss Jessie Moffat, Miss Elsie White, Miss Elizabeth Mendel, Miss Sue Caldwell, Miss Louise Todd Baird, of this city, and Miss Bessie Dana, of Charleston. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. James D. Moffat, president of Washington-Jefferson college, brother of Mr. T. C. Moffat, and Rev. Joseph Speers, pastor of the church, after which a reception will be tendered the bride party and the immediate relatives of the contracting families, at the handsome residence of the bride's parents on South Chapline street. The ceremony of the wedding has been characterized by beautiful simplicity, and will be so carried out. The color scheme is pink and white, the organ and dresses of the young girls to reflect this in a dainty shade. The young men comprising the party were last evening entertained by Dr. Storor at the Fort Henry club, and the young women by Miss Louise Todd Baird, at the residence of her mother on Fourteenth street. This first wedding of the season unites two of the best known and oldest families in the state. Dr. Storor is the only son of the late Dr. John H. and Mrs. Susan Waddell Storor, of Elm Grove, and is a young man of sterling worth, professionally, and cordially recognized by the fraternity, a member of the Fort Henry Club and popular in the best circles business and social. Miss Moffat, a tall distinguished appearing brunette, is the granddaughter of the late William B. Quarrier and the late Rev. John Moffat, men prominent in the early advancement of this city.

Mrs. Frank J. Hearne is in New York City, in attendance at the sick bed of Mr. Edwin Hearne.

Mrs. Charles J. Milton, of St. Louis, who has been the guest of her father, Major Loring, during the summer, left for home Wednesday, taking her father with her in hope of benefitting his health.

Mrs. Fannie Caldwell Hemphstone, of Washington City, will be at home for the winter at the McClure House.

Miss Florence Atkinson is the house guest of Miss Bessie Rice on Fourteenth street.

The Twentieth Century Girls met for the first time this season at the residence of General Alfred Caldwell, on North Main street, his daughters Miss Laura and Miss Helen, being prominent members of the organization.

The Married Ladies' Euchre Club met during the week, preparatory to the winter's regular meetings.

Mrs. Jacob W. Grubb entertained a duplicate whist club yesterday afternoon. This special set embraces Mrs. J. W. Grubb, Mrs. Charles H. Taney, Mrs. W. W. Arnett and Mrs. Alex Campbell.

Rev. and Mrs. Nathaniel S. Thomas, Mrs. J. D. Culbertson and Miss Mamie D. Grubb, are a party contemplating a trip to Washington City, Monday, October 2, in connection with church work.

Hon. and Mrs. John A. Howard are at home at the Harden residence on Twelfth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stalmann are at home at Harden's, on North Main street.

Mrs. John H. Storor, of Clearfield, Pa., is in the city for the Storor-Moffat wedding, and is the guest of her son at the residence of Mrs. J. F. Merriman, on North Chapline street.

Mrs. Julius Pollock and daughter, Miss Emily, are in Burlington, Iowa. Mrs. Pollock's girlhood home. They were called there by death of Mr. Ashley Crape, a nephew of Mrs. Pollock, who enlisted in the war and contracted typhoid fever at Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Bates Woods will be at home for some time at Monument Place, Major Alonzo Loring's residence.

MUSICAL WHEELING.

"Well, here's a greeting to you; I'm still inside the ring. An' a-lovin' an' a-list'nin' to the songs the folks sing. But my harp, just for the present, is repositin' on the shelf. An' my heart makes all the music, but it keeps it to itself. I can't tell you why I'm quiet—why I don't chirp as before; But 'tain't 'cause my whistle's broken an' needs fixin' at the store."

Though September is nearly gone, Musical Wheeling (numerically undiminished) has not yet defined its strength and position for the coming season of 1893-94. This lack of aggressiveness is unwarrantable, for the many encouragements of art and the higher ideals of life, in the city, who stood by the musical inclinations in many endeavors for three years will not be missing when the clubs are again in go and need supporting recognition.

The Philharmonic Club, whose delightful "Tuesday Evenings" were thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by the cultured of the city, has as yet not defined its position for re-organization as a public musical benefactor, though private rehearsals at the residence of Mr. Hermann M. Schockey, on Chapline street, have begun. The personnel of the Quartet remains as before, H. M. Schockey, first violin and piano; Edward Blumenberg, viola and solo violin; A. Farber, second violin; Fred Meyer, cello. The names recall and acknowledge the club's worth and it were a pity if their work should be withheld because wanting of outside show of interest from lovers of the best in music.

Many suggestions have been put to the gentlemen comprising the Quartet, among which the most feasible seemed the "guarantee fund" to be made up by a number of gentlemen each subscribing one hundred dollars for the season, and the price of admission to concerts to be made within the reach of everybody, therewith allowing a hearing of every concert in the series, while all young students of every school of music in the city were to be admitted free of charge, at very much reduced rates. Up to this time, however, the guarantee fund has not been made and it is more than probable that a meeting will be called during the next ten days of all interested, and some idea formulated as to the choice between a subscribers' list (the former season's plan) and the one mentioned above. Whatever the outcome the "Philharmonic" should be one of this winter's attractions, for the reason that Wheeling's recognized striving for greater things along cultured and refined lines should make the city able to host of chamber music concerts every other week, well attended.

The Women's Club, with Mrs. George B. Caldwell as president, and Mrs. Flora Williams as chorus director, will next week issue invitations to all ladies eligible to active membership in the club, who will present the cards when applying for admission at the A. O. U. W. hall on Saturday afternoon, October 1, between 2 and 6 o'clock. The meetings will be held on Saturdays during October, preparatory for the first matinee, which is booked for the first Saturday in November. Invitations for associate membership will be sent out after the active membership is well established. The prospects of the club for its fourth season are very flattering.

The Oratorio Society, Paris R. Myers director, is not yet called to order. No meeting having been arranged for this coming Monday night, and Monday being the society's evening, it is more than likely that Monday, October 2, will be selected for the assembling of this season's members. From the director it is learned that the first study will be Haydn's "Creation" this to be publicly sung during the Christmas holidays, after which "Elijah," by Mendelssohn, will be taken up.

The Orpheus Society, Professor Henry Arbenz, of the Conservatory of Music, director, is already rehearsing, with a full and interested membership.

The Arion and Mozart singing societies, Professor Schockey, director, are at work on the music to be sung by them at the Cincinnati Saengerfest, and their director is much encouraged with the progress noticeably from week to week. Wheeling will have cause to be proud of these representatives.

The Opera House orchestra, Prof. E. W. Spell, conductor, and Meyers' orchestra, William Meyer, conductor, are still giving their Sunday concerts, but are rehearsing new music in the interim for the coming winter's social obligations.

The Waldo Mandolin and Guitar Club, as well as other similar organizations, promise to be especially in demand during the season at small and exclusive functions. The appropriateness of such music is being recognized as a delightful accompaniment to society small talk, as well as thoroughly enjoyable to all classes of listeners, from the learned musical scholar to the unsophisticated dilettante.

The city choirs are about fixed again after a summer's vacation. At St. Luke's P. E. church, Mr. Archibald A. Taylor was chosen director of the choir. No better choice could have been made; Mr. Taylor is to be congratulated upon the early recognition of his ability. At the First Presbyterian church Miss Mary Wilde, whose musicianship and splendid manipulation of any organ, is recognized not only in this city, but in surrounding towns, replaces Mr. Joseph L. Rhees organist; Mr. Baum, basso, a young man with an exceptionally fine voice and much musical promise, and Mr. Ewart, ranking among the first tenors in Wheeling, and whose musical temperament especially adapts him for his present work, are filling respectively the positions recently given up by Mr. Henry W. Hughes and Mr. Will Day, long favorites with church audiences.

Among attractions for the coming week, on Monday night a musicale at the country home of Mr. W. P. Hubbard. This takes the place of the usual Tuesday evening. Hours from 7 to 11.

Another musicale is booked (the evening not decided) at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George K. Wheat, on
